

The Bed is Important, But— How about the COMFORTS?

The selection of the proper comfort is just as important as the selection of any part of the bed. It has been found that pure cotton comforts are the most sanitary and healthful bed covers. A cotton comfort will keep its shape if it's made right. It doesn't have to bunch and lump after it's been in use awhile, if it's made properly.

Maish Cotton Down Comfort is not only famous for its extra-lightness, extra-purity, extra-thickness, and extra-beauty, but it keeps its shape 'till it's worn out.

When you take one up you notice that it is thick and yet much lighter than the ordinary cotton comfort. That is because the Maish Comfort is made of the finest cotton, curled by the special Maish process which insures extra lightness and fluffiness.

When you sleep under a Maish Comfort you discover that this super-pure, super-sanitary comfort gives double the warmth of any comfort of equal weight. Why not furnish your beds with Maish Comforts since they cost so little more than ordinary comforts?

We also wish to call your attention to the beautiful covers of Maish Comforts in many pretty patterns and shades. Just the thing you need for your own room and for the guest room, but so inexpensive that you can furnish every bed in the house with a pure, sanitary Maish Comfort.

song and graceful dance is coming to the Barre opera house on Jan. 14, to toll in a burst of song, the tale of her trials and triumphs, her piques and relents. It is a story of love and romance, seductively charming, embellished with coaxing melody and contagious comedy. "The Only Girl" is the collaborated work of Victor Herbert and Henry Blossom, and is presented by Joe Webber, who produced it at the Lyric theatre, New York, where it ran for nearly one entire year. The chorus, while not large, the girls have been selected for their distinct types of beauty, and it is said to be more satisfying than a stage full of ordinary chorus girls. Another feature of the performance is an augmented orchestra.—adv.

Park Theatre.
Thursday, Jan. 13. Equitable presents the charming emotional actress, Miss Florence Reed, in "The Cowardly Way," in five acts of superb dramatic action, showing the life of a spoiled society girl, who marries a poor man and still continues to spend more than he can make, finally wrecking all of his ambitions.—adv.

A committee representing the allied churches that are promoting the temperance meeting to be held in the opera house on the evening of Jan. 30 is experiencing considerable difficulty in finding an opponent for Dr. Wilson, the Chicago prohibition orator, who is to address the mass meeting. Sometime ago clergymen supporting the mass meeting movement advertised for a speaker to debate the question of national prohibition with Dr. Wilson. Thus far the advertisement has not been prolific of any results, although for a time it was hoped that former Attorney General Pettigill of Maine would oppose the Chicago man in the forum. If no one appears to champion the cause of local option, the meeting will be wholly prohibition in the character of the speechmaking.

Barre granite is again the cynosure for eyes that can discriminate between good stone and the other kind in the exedra memorial erected in New York recently in memory of Joseph Pulitzer, late publisher of the New York World. Duncan Chandler was the architect and Barre granite was furnished through the Lavery Granite company. The exedra is constructed along simple, but massive lines, with a beautiful modeled male figure forming the central feature. Memorial connoisseurs describe it as a dignified and impressive monument to one of the greatest newspaper men of modern times. The solid wall of the exedra is without any decoration except a delicately wrought classic moulding. The monument was the work of William Ordway Partridge, who, it is said, has wrought a figure of unusual sculptural expression and monumental feeling.

January Sale Closes Saturday Night

This will be your last chance to buy all kinds of dry goods at January Clearance prices.

Everything in our store that sells for more than 5c at a liberal discount with the exception of Spool Silk Thread, Black Cat Hose and Munsing Underwear.

Buy your Wool and Silk Dress Goods in this sale.

Buy your Table Damask of someone now, for prices will be quite a lot higher as soon as this sale is over.

Wash Goods—These in this sale are from one-fourth to one-third off regular prices. They are not next season's styles. They are of very best quality and these styles, many of them, are as good as lots of new spring styles. These are a great buy for children's or misses' hard wear; good for waists and wrappers.

Outing Flannels bought when the South could hardly give their cotton away. Now cotton is away up. These Outings are very cheap. Yard-wide 15c grade at 10c per yard. After this week, it will be more.

All Blankets, Bed Quilts and Comfortables in this sale at a discount if bought before Saturday evening this week.

Sheets and Pillow Slips in this sale, if bought before 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Lots of these values are in our Bargain Basement. Not room enough on our tables upstairs to hold them all.

SPECIAL MILLINERY VALUES FOR SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Liberty, who were called to Barre to attend the funeral of Mrs. Liberty's brother, Patrick J. McNulty, who died in Redlands, Cal., Jan. 1, returned last evening to their home in Rawden, P. Q., after visiting relatives in the city for a few days. Hugh McNulty, a brother of the deceased, has gone back to Toronto, Ont., and Mrs. Joseph Ryers has returned to her home in Montreal. Mrs. Thomas McNulty, a sister of Mr. McNulty, who was here for the funeral, has also returned to her home in Montreal.

Before an audience composed largely of students but with a considerable attendance from downtown, Edward A. Mead of New York recited cuttings from William Hodge's play, "The Man from Home" in the chapel at Goddard seminary last evening. Mr. Mead's handling of excerpts from the Hodge classic revealed rare familiarity with the characters and from the outset he held the attention of his auditors. Some of the more difficult situations in the piece were expably interpreted and at all times and in any role he was eminently happy. Afterward he delighted the audience with a short repertoire of humorous readings.
